Polish Job Starts At Football Camp

With 10 returning lettermen leading the way, the Canyon High School Eagles this week are engaged in smoothing the rough edges as they prepare for the opening grid encounter with the Slaton Tigers on September 4.

Coach Bill Davis Monday opened a "football camp" for 29 varsity hopefuls in the high school gym. The camp, which will continue through Saturday, is divided between study periods and on-field practices, broken by morning and afternoon rest periods.

Twice-a-day workouts began Monday and will be held through Saturday. Coach Davis' charges probably will work out twice on two days next week, preparing for the scrimmage game next Thursday with Littlefield at Littlefield.

Camp Is New Device

The "football camp" is a relatively new device adopted by the coaches at schools not allowed to conduct spring training by the Texas Interscholastic League.

Cook Named Manager

Jim Cook, who was to have attended the camp, has an injured knee and has been named a manager by Coach Davis.

Returning lettermen at the camp are Richardson, Henderson, Lisle, Prichard, Purcell, Breitling, Cornette, Killingsworth, Poole, and Nester.

Henderson and Breitling are co-captains.

Members of the junior varsity squad, to be coached by Bill West, and the freshman squad, to be coached by James Kauffman, will report for practice September 4, the first day of school.

Junior Varsity Roster

Miss Babston Retiring as Librarian At WT After 41 Years of Association

When Miss Linnie Babston, West Texas State College catalog librarian, retires this month, she plans to catch up on her reading.

"I see so many good books come through the cataloging progress, but when I get through the day my eyes are tired and I can't read at night," Miss Babston said. "So now I'll get a chance to read some of them."

Miss Babston will end 41 years of association as a student and staff member with WT when she retires August 31. She first came to WT in 1918 as a student, and the next year she became an assistant in the library.

To Work in Yard

"I'm looking forward to my retirement with a lot of enthusiasm," Miss Babston said. "I'll have a chance to work in my yard and house, and I do enjoy working with flowers."

Miss Babston plans first to visit her sister, Mrs. V. S. Coughran, in California for about 10 days before settling down to reading and gardening at her home at 1810 Eighth Avenue. She moved to her home in 1942 after living for 24 years at a house just a block away.

Born in Pontotoc, Texas, Miss Babston began teaching when she was 15 in a one-room school at Pumphrey. With a third grade certificate, she taught the first five grades in one end of the room, while her principal taught the upper grades in the other end. That school year was for three months. Later she taught in schools near Tahoka before moving to Hamlin, and from Hamlin she came to WT.

A Peabody Graduate

Miss Babston took only one or two courses a semester while she worked in the library, and it was in 1928 when she became a full-time librarian. She went away to George Peabody College for Teachers in 1929-30 and earned her B.S. in library science.

The retiring librarian has performed all types of library work at WT. She became acting head librarian in 1945, when Miss Tennessee Malone, who had been librarian since the college's founding in 1910, retired. She was later associate librarian.

"It thrills me to see our library growing and expanding its services," Miss Babston said. "We were so long restricted for space in the Administration Building and by small budgets. Of course the new building in 1952 was a blessing."

In 'Who's Who'

Listed in "Who's Who in Library Service," Miss Babston has been an active member of the Texas Library Association, Texas State Teachers Association, Texas Association of College Teachers, and the American Association of University Women.

Miss Babston conducted a clinic for school librarians of the Panhandle about five years ago, and was responsible for a district meeting of the Texas Junior Librarian Association on the campus two years ago. For her work in the district T.L.A. meetings, she was presented a life membership in the association by the district.

Rumors Flying On Jury Meet

Rumors were flying Tuesday about the proposed meeting of city and county officials with the grand jury after Randall County commissioners accepted an invitation to meet with the investigating body.

The invitation — presented instead of a subpoena — was presented by A. W. Lair, criminal district attorney, to the county commissioners at their Monday meeting.

Attorney Lair said the grand jury wanted to meet with Randall and Potter County commissioners, Canyon and Amarillo mayors, and chiefs of police, and Randall and Potter County sheriffs on September 8.

Lair Wouldn't Say

There was no indication by Lair of what the grand jury wants with the city and county officials. However, one of the more persistent rumors is that it concerns police actions between the two cities and counties.

Commissioner B. E. McCormick was a little perplexed at Monday's meeting to learn that he had made two motions and seconded a third at last week's meeting. The commissioner was in Canada last week.

Commissioner McCormick said Tuesday he will take action to have his name removed from the motions.

Call County Clerk

At his insistence, commissioners agreed to take the burden of preparing the weekly minutes off County Judge Roy Joe Stevens.

Instead, County Clerk Tom Lair will be called in at the close of each meeting and have the minutes dictated to him by C. Y. Johnson, commissioner of South Amarillo's Precinct 4.

Judge Stevens was not present at Monday's meeting to clear up the mystery behind the motions credited to McCormick.

During the commissioners' meeting, the judge usually takes notes of the action taken by the commissioners and the commissioners do not know what goes into the minutes until they are posted in the minute book in the county clerk's office.

No Agenda Support

An agenda for each week's meeting also was pushed by McCormick, but this move died for lack of support. McCormick said he believed an agenda would speed the meetings by bringing some sort of order to the gatherings.

During the discussion on the motions credited to McCormick while he was out of town, Clarence Beckman, commissioner of Umbarger's Precinct 2, said he removed his name from the minutes himself when he found the minutes in error on motions concerning him.

To Set Salaries

Salary adjustments for employees of the county will be considered next Monday afternoon by the commissioners. A public hearing of the proposed 1960 budget was called for 2 p. m. on September 14, and the commissioners want to fix salaries before setting the budget.

About a 10 percent increase in tax evaluation is indicated for 1960, county auditor E. T. Cummings said. The proposed budget is based on evaluation in the county of $31,889,000. The evaluation in Randall County in 1959 is $29,066,000.

Expenditures, as figured in the proposed budget, would total $693,487 for 1960, or an increase of nearly $40,000 over the 1959 budget.

Neblett Retires After 27 Years

Dr. Robert A. Neblett, who began practice in Canyon in 1932, has retired.

Founder of Neblett Hospital, he has sold the hospital and clinic to the three remaining staff doctors, Dr. Leta Boswell, Dr. Charles Nester, and Dr. J. Manly Bryan.

Dr. Robert N. McClelland took over as the fourth staff doctor Monday.

Dr. McClelland has just completed a two-year residency in surgery at Parkland Hospital in Dallas. He took his B.A. and M.D. degrees from the University of Texas in Austin and Galveston and served his internship at the University of Kansas in Kansas City. He spent two years in Germany with the Air Force Medical Corps.

A member of the Methodist Church, Dr. McClelland and his wife are living in Dr. Neblett's cabin at the Palo Duro Club. He was reared at Gilmer.

Dr. Neblett opened the first unit of Neblett Hospital in 1937. The clinic was closed from 1942 through February, 1946, while Dr. Neblett served as a United States Army major at an evacuation hospital in the Southwest Pacific.

From the original unit of six beds and offices for two doctors, the hospital has been expanded to include 31 beds and offices for four doctors. It was accredited by the Commission on Hospital Accreditation in 1954, one of the first small hospitals to be so honored.

Dr. Neblett has served as president of the local Medical Society and of the Panhandle District Medical Society. He has twice been elected councilor of the Third District of Texas Medical Society, once in 1954 and once in 1959.

He is now on the board of ruling elders at the First Presbyterian Church and has served as president of both the Rotary Club and the Canyon Independent School Board.

Trustees Adopt School Budget

A budget calling for expenditures totaling over half a million dollars was adopted for the 1959-60 school year by the board of the Canyon Independent School District Tuesday night.

Over half of the $588,940 budget budget will go for salaries of principals, counselors, teachers, librarians, and secretarial and clerical assistants. In all, $338,898—or 57.7 percent of the total budget—is earmarked for instruction of students.

Second biggest proposed expenditure during the coming year is the debt service requirement of the school district. The retirement of bonds calls for spending $56,075, while interest on bonds during the year will amount to $47,340. Another $191 will go for other expenses.

Other planned spending for the 1959-60 school year includes administration, $29,436; health services, $1,000; pupil transportation, $44,150; operation of plant, $35,800; maintenance of plant, $8,000; fixed charges, $1,400; food services, $500; student body activities, $3,750; capital outlay, $15,400, and outgoing transfers, $7,000.

This year's budget is nearly $90,000 higher than last year's. Principal reasons for the hike in expenditures are the hike in debt service requirements and in teacher salaries.

Debt service requirements are up because of the $1 million in bonds sold by the school board to finance the new high school. Teachers and the administrative staff of the school were given $100 raises at the last meeting of the board.

Gene McGlasson, Jr., local attorney, was the only spectator at Tuesday night's public hearing. McGlasson asked of the possibility of giving teachers more than a $100 per year salary increase.

In other action, the board hired Mrs. Joe Gibson to work with the experimental teaching unit from West Texas State College for the coming year. Mrs. Gibson was employed because she is capable of teaching a number of subjects at the high school level.

The board accepted the bid of Goldsmith Dairy to furnish milk for the school cafeterias during the school year, and accepted the bid of Tendercrust Bread to supply bread at the cafeterias.

Since taking over the administration, he has been successful in expanding the services of the college, in promoting enrollment, and obtaining a building program.

Forestry Established

Dr. Walkup obtained authorization to establish a four-year curriculum in forestry, and Arizona State now grants a degree in forestry. The college has been reorganized into seven divisions.

Dr. Walkup earned his B.A. and B.S. degrees from Central Missouri State College and the M.A. and D.Ed. degrees from the University of Missouri.

Listed in "Who's Who in America" and "Who's Who In American Education," Dr. Walkup is a member of the Arizona Association of School Administrators and is past president of the Arizona Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development.

Cemetery Group Names 3 New Board Directors

Three new members were elected to the board of directors of Dreamland Cemetery Association Monday at the board's first annual meeting in the district courtroom.

Elected to the board were Mrs. J. O. Parker, Bill Sternenberg, and Roy Whittenberg. They replace L. L. Byars, outgoing president, Dr. Ford Fronabarger, outgoing vice president, and R. B. Allen, outgoing secretary.

New officers will be elected at a later meeting.

In a financial statement given by Allen, he stated that the association had received $44,376.28 in total receipts during the past two years, and that there was $3,138.48 in the operating fund. There is $14,376.56 in the trust fund, he said.

During the past two years, the average monthly receipts of the association have been $1,849.10, the secretary reported.

The three new board members join Levi Cole, Tom Black, Mrs. C. W. Warwick, Avent Lair, Dr. J. A. Hill, and Mrs. Alfred Bellah.

Opera Written For Mrs. Forbau

Marian Forbau, a West Texas State College graduate student, from Quanah, will star in a new 20-minute opera especially composed for her at the Interlochen Music Camp at Interlochen, Mich.

The opera, by Allan Cooper of the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, will be premiered Sunday by the American Opera Workshop in Interlochen.

Wins Recognition

Mrs. Forbau won the recognition for her work in "The Medium," presented recently by the workshop, and she appeared in the role of Madame Flora, the same role she sang last spring in the WT Opera Workshop production.

Her husband, Bernhardt, was assistant to the designer while the production was in rehearsal and acted as house manager during the performances.

"Marian was really superb, and she received quite an ovation," according to William A. Moore, WT associate professor of speech, who is attending the summer session at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. The Moores attended the performance.

Opera Is "Silver Dollar"

The opera in which Mrs. Forbau will star, according to Moore, is "Silver Dollar." It is written for one woman, who has killed her husband and relives the experiences of her life.

Moore said that "congratulatory messages can be sent to Mrs. Forbau at the American Opera Workshop, Interlochen Music Camp."

Mrs. Forbau, who completed work on her bachelor's degree at WT last May, was winner of a scholarship to the American Opera Workshop.

Seats Going Fast In Plush Section

West Texas State College football fans this week were advised to get their season tickets early if they want to sit in the section of new Buffalo Stadium with the chairs and electrical outlets.

Frank Kimbrough, WT athletic director, said Tuesday that half of the 1,358 seats in the section already were sold, and the rest are going fast.

The tickets in the plush section cost $17.50 each. First-year season ticket purchasers get the right to claim that same seat in the new stadium for the next 10 years.

Boost the Boosters

The beginning of football season means various things to various people: the harbinger of winter; of school; more peaceful days around the house; an upswing in business; a "settling down" after the summer; a decision about buying a new topcoat.

But football also means there's a fresh topic of conversation each week; but in some towns the conversation is more enlightened than in others.

That's why we were glad when a gent called on us last week to tell us about the initial meeting on Tuesday of the Eagles Booster Club, an organization devoted to the furtherance of the Eagles' football fortunes.

A group such as the Eagles Booster Club can be an asset to the team, school, and most important, the community. Most booster clubs operate on the premises that an enlightened fan is a responsive fan—a fan that understands that when a football team loses a game it also might have won an important lesson in the game of sportsmanship. And sportsmanship, after all, is one of the basic tenents upon which the game is played in high schools, colleges, and universities throughout the nation.

Booster clubs seem to have an effect on a team that no other stimulus has. Two examples readily come to mind:

Two teams played a tilt that decided the district championship. The game was rated a toss-up by most of the prognosticators in the area. One coach did not believe in booster clubs, or any overt display of fans of the club before the game. The other coach believed in, and fostered, an active booster club for his team. It was a whale of a ball game, but it doesn't seem necessary to tell which team won.

The other incident occurred during halftime at a game the experts said would be a runaway for the home team. As the teams left the field the score stood at 13-7, with the favored club on top.

During the half, the coach of the visiting underdogs called on members of the booster club. Gamblers just outside the dressing rooms were still confident, however, and were giving the underdogs and 20 points to all takers. After some very brief speeches, the team took the field. The team didn't win, although it did have a touchdown called back for an infraction of the rules that was highly disputed. The game ended with the score of 13-7.

There should be more to a booster club than just urging the team on to victory, however. Any booster clubs should practice fair play, sportsmanship, and all the other things that football stands for—and there's more to football than just winning the weekend game.

If you believe this, as we do, the best way to assure that the Eagles Booster Club will be such an organization is to participate in it. To start on the right foot, let your views be known Tuesday night at the high school cafeteria. (OG)

Use Action, Not Words

The term, "Delinquency," got a thorough going over Wednesday, when Bob Wear, former Hereford minister, now of Canyon, spoke before the Hereford Lions Club.

"The word, 'Juvenile' should never be connected with delinquency," declared the minister, "because it is the adults—not the juveniles—who create the situation."

In this regard, Wear pointed out that obscene literature, pictures, TV programs, alcoholic beverages and other contributing factors to delinquency are the products of adults, and never the product of juveniles. He also struck hard against the "dual-standard" of most adults, who generally feel that children should do as they are told and not as the adults do.

Cures for the situation, he said, are to be found in the form of understanding parents in homes where our boys and girls will find love and guidance; schools where the teachers will have and find time to help all students, and not the few with higher intelligence quotas; churches and communities which, likewise, will follow through in helping instill principles taught in the home and school.

Mr. Wear certainly presents a side which many of us ignore. The one flaw, perhaps, rests in the fact that we parents of 1959 might pass our shortcomings (by the same argument) back to our own parents—or lay them at the door of the "Roaring Twenties" in which many of today's parents learned lawlessness during the prohibition era.

All of us know of cases where wholesome homes and substantial parents find themselves unable to control their children, regardless of how much time is spent with them. Generally speaking, however, his argument produces one of those "shoes which will fit many people" and, without question, we agree with his overall thought that people who criticize our juveniles would get much further by setting these same boys and girls an example through leading a law-abiding, Christian life themselves.

Scissor Snippings

Paul Crume in the Dallas Morning News: At times it seems to us that our scholarly studies of the English language are not sufficiently appreciated.

A little while back we did a dissertation on the expression "plum nelly," after an inquiry by the Hon. Former Left End and Legislator Peppy Blount. We pointed out that it means "almost," as in the sentence: "We went plum nelly to the river."

Ever since we've been getting letters from rival lexicographers, probably jealous, who accuse us of corrupting the term. They say it should be "plum and nelly."

"It is properly used as in 'plum out of Tenaha and nelly over to Timpson,' which more accurately describes the fix you're in," declares Jim Neal.

"Plum nelly is a bit redundant. 'Plum and nelly,' on the other hand, has a nice easy cadence and is still in wide usage."

One servant, Floyd Lane of Longview, even accused us of confusing "plum and nelly" with "perten nelly." "Perten nelly" is the term that means "almost," he says.

If anybody is interested, there really is a "Plumnelly." T. J. White of the Pittsburg Gazette says Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Clark down there named their country lodge Plumnelly several years ago.

"This place is plum out of the city limits and nelly in the country," says Mr. White.

A. M. J. in the Slaton Slatonite: While Charley Austin and Judge Smith are, on most occasions, rather snappy dressers of the conservative breed, there are occasions when, according to my guess, they want to give the impression that they are real hard workers. So before coming to town they take an oil can and squirt oil on their pants and hat, cock the hat side ways on their head, smear axle grease on their hands and come down town to imprint people on the hardships of getting rich in the farming business.

Last week I accused Charley and the judge of overrating the hard-working farmer role and Gene Legg came to their defense. He says it is no trouble at all to get grease all over everything a man wears, especially when he works around a farm. Gene says when anyone comes around his farm, near Muleshoe, and asks to see him his wife tells the visitor to look around the farm and the greasiest man he can find will be Mr. Legg.

The main trouble about monkeying with farm machinery says Mr. Legg is the fact that it has to be greased so often and when a man gets grease on each hand his nose starts itching. There is nothing that can be done but to scratch and from there the itch jumps around from the nose to the knee, to the hip pocket and then to the shin. My nose is itching right now, guess I'll have to get a hand full of grease before I can scratch it.

House Remembers How His Friend Quieted the Bragging 'Drummer'

By BOYCE HOUSE

Resting in the little town of Cotulla in the winter of 1920-21, with nothing to do, I began to observe my fellow guests in the hotel and probably that was the beginning of a life-long practice of studying other people. Mainly the guests were traveling salesmen. I can still clearly recall some of them.

One was broad-shouldered, with long arms, and he walked in a loose-jointed way—his name was Wellman.

Three were named Magee—two of them brothers and the other a son (and nephew, of course). The brothers had differed in the recent governor's race and the one who had supported Neff had a story he told to discomfort the Bailey supporter. The young man had been, briefly, an actor and he had recently seen the New York stage sensation, "The Bat," the first—and one of the best—of the many mystery dramas.

Then there was a short, heavy-set man named Hackenjos, whose home—as I recall—was in Uvalde.

Then one whom I remember most vividly was there only once—for a stay of three days. He was handsome, widely-read, had an excellent voice and was a delightful conversationalist. The fact that he hailed from Tennessee and that I had lived in Memphis gave us something in common. His name was F. W. Williams and his old home town was Povo, Tenn.

He spoke of the vast store of information that Mike Connolly possessed. Colonel Connolly for years was editor of the Memphis News-Scimitar and he had crossed swords with Brann the Iconoclast.

"I wanted to know who wrote a poem and I had written to the Boston Transcript and the New York Sun, but without success," the traveling man said. "One day, I met Mike Connolly and asked him; he instantly told me who wrote it."

"What was the name of the poem?" I inquired, casually.

"It starts off, 'I'd rather live in Bohemia—'," he replied.

"Didn't John Boyle O'Reilly write that?"

At my remark, his mouth popped open and his eyes bulged. All the others in the room turned and looked at me, and I was sorry I had spoken.

"Yes," he said finally.

It just happened that I had read the poem not long before and the author's name stuck in my mind—but my reputation as an authority on literature was thereafter firmly established in the Cotulla hotel lobby.

While Williams was there, one young "drummer" irritated everyone by claiming to have seen something more remarkable than the mountain, waterfall or whatever which had been the subject of the incident just told; and he had—by his own account—been the friend and adviser of any celebrity whose name was mentioned.

Williams was wearing an elk's tooth as a watch-charm and his young man commented that he had shot elks in the Canadian wilds with teeth twice as large.

Williams began, in an idle manner:

"We all know of course about the California gold rush in 1849; and about the Great Salt Lake where you can not sink; and also that the travelers on the treeless plains used cow chips for fuel."

Everyone nodded in agreement.

"With that background in mind, I am reminded of a happening in a hotel lobby out West. There was a young man in the group who made stronger and stronger statements of things he had seen and deeds he had done until at last a wizened little miner in a corner who had been silent said:

"'We crossed the plains in other days;
We bathed in Salt Lake's brine;
We burnt that stuff
You're peddling now—
In 1849.'"

The brash young man was quiet thereafter.

4-H Members Camp Overnight

Thirty 4-H boys, girls, and adult leaders camped overnight at the VFW hall and grounds August 10.

Club members studied project and demonstration guides, record books, leadership and recreation. They planned and led games for the night party.

Bob Darnell of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and resident manager of the Buffalo Lake project, spoke on migratory waterfowl and refuge areas. He told about the rough fish eradication program now underway at Buffalo Lake and the restocking of the lake with bass and catfish to improve fishing.

Colored slides taken by club members and their families in Oregon and Mexico were shown to the group.

Mrs. Louis Tucek, Mrs. Alvin Friemel, and Mrs. Joe Wieck served as adult leaders. The camp was under the general supervision of Randall County Extension agents, John Brazzil and Mrs. Mona K. Hildreth.

Bagley Takes Part In Naval Exercise

Winston T. Bagley, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Bagley of Canyon, participated in the West Coast's annual Sea Fair Parade August 6, in which ships of the U. S. First Fleet entered Elliott Bay at Seattle, Wash., in formation.

The parade of ships was followed by a two-day recreational visit to the Sea Fair's exhibits and displays along with witnessing the small boat races.

All mankind would have fewer troubles if more of the yeses were turned into noes.

Soil Bank Meeting Slated Tomorrow

Randall County farmers will have an opportunity to review changes in this year's conservation reserve soil bank program at a county-wide meeting at 8 p. m. tomorrow night in the Farm Bureau building, 1710 Fifth Avenue.

Because of the many important changes in the program this year, farmers are advised to secure as much information as possible if they are interested in placing land in the soil bank or modifying existing contracts, according to John Brazzil, county agent.

Applications for new contracts will be taken Monday in the Randall County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Office. All applications must be made before September 10.

Randall County now has 22,409 acres in the program. This land is retired from crop production and grazing. A permanent cover of adapted grasses is used to revegetate the land. Noxious weeds are controlled, and the area is allowed to produce wildlife food and cover.

The ASC, Extension Service, and Soil Conservation Service will handle the program.

Combs Celebrates 90th Birthday At Reunion, Picnic in Amarillo

A family reunion and picnic were held recently in Elwood Park in Amarillo as the family and friends of George B. Combs gathered to celebrate his 90th birthday anniversary.

A resident of Canyon since the early 1940's, Combs is still active in the management of the 040 Ranch in Deaf Smith County which he and the first Mrs. Combs established in 1898.

The 90-year-old Panhandle pioneer was born August 11, 1869, in Laurrell County, Kentucky. He is an ex-cowboy of the old XIT Ranch, where he worked for $25 per month.

The settler has many interesting tales of bronc-busting, loco horses, stampedes, and big prairie fires. And he vividly remembers the annual spring round-ups when the big XIT was branded on the sides of the Hereford cattle.

Meals during these yearly round-ups consisted of sour dough biscuits, beans, and apricots cooked over cow chip fires and served from a chuck wagon.

He and his first wife founded the 040 Ranch in 1898, soon after their marriage, and operated it successfully until Mrs. Combs died in 1942.

They had five children: Irene, Arol, Jannette, Ruby, and Albert. Combs' two sons died in 1921 from an explosion caused by a tractor fire.

After the death of his first wife, the pioneer married Mrs. Josie Atkins, with whom he established a home in Canyon.

Coffee Honors Louise Higdon

A coffee honoring Miss Mary Louise Higdon, bride-elect of Charles "Chuck" Gorton, was held Wednesday morning in the home of Mrs. Lee Foster.

Covering the refreshment table was a decorative nylon net cloth centered with an arrangement of white chrysanthemums with decorative lovebirds in yellow and green entwined in the bouquet. Mrs. Dan Sanders and Mrs. Lee Roy Moreland presided at the coffee service.

Sixty guests were registered by Miss Mary Gladys Marshall and Miss Rita Grabbe at the guest book during the appointed hours from 9 until 11.

Hostesses were Mrs. Louis Hinders, Mrs. Grace McDougal, Mrs. Louis K. Bolton, Mrs. Worth Jennings, Mrs. E. L. Hardaway, Mrs. Douglas Marshall, Mrs. Hatcher Brown, Mrs. James Jennings, Mrs. Henry Wiggins and Mrs. Foster.

Priscilla Club Meets With Mrs. Marshall

Mrs. Gladys Marshall was hostess to the Priscilla Club meeting recently.

Summer flowers decorated the home. The hostess served a fruit plate and ice tea.

Guests were Mrs. Earnest Brown, Mrs. Alfred Bellah, Mrs. Bill Crow, Mrs. C. M. Dowlen, Mrs. C. R. Flesher, Mrs. J. M. Daugherty, Mrs. D. M. Foster, Mrs. R. A. Hodges, Mrs. S. B. Loudder, Mrs. C. M. Presley, Mrs. A. H. Prichard, Mrs. Cecil Simms, Mrs. T. S. Stevenson, Sr., Mrs. H. M. Stokes, Mrs. E. D. Walker, and Mrs. Dudley Moore, Sr.

Marcella Przilas Is Shower Honoree

Miss Marcella Przilas, who became the bride of Herbert Woehl Wednesday, was honored recently with a personal shower in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Raef.

Miss Elaine Batenhorst officiated at the guest book, and Miss Bernice Przilas, sister of the bride-elect, presided at the punch service. Fifteen guests were served punch and cake.

Hostesses were Miss Irene Detton, Miss Batenhorst, Miss Przilas, Mrs. Darrell Hersley, and Miss Sylvia Raef.

Downing - Jones Engagement Told

The engagement of Shannon Downing to Gary Roger Jones of Amarillo was announced yesterday at a tea in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Downing.

In the receiving line were Miss Downing, Mrs. Downing, and Mrs. Frank Wood, the bride-to-be's grandmother.

Linda and Debbie Wood, cousins of the bride, registered guests and distributed glitter-coated capsules holding the names and date, September 18.

Laid with a white drawnwork cloth, the table held an arrangement of large pink mums surrounded by small white mums in a nosegay resembling the bridal bouquet, flanked by bride and groom figurines. Pink streamers repeated the names and date.

Pouring punch were aunts of the bride, Mrs. Tom Gerald and Mrs. Neil Downing, both of Canyon, and Mrs. J. L. McCarty and Mrs. D. B. Johns, both of Amarillo. Marilyn McCarty and Patricia Downing, Miss Downing's cousins, also assisted.

Fifty-seven guests, including Mrs. James B. Franklin, and Mrs. Robert Caballero, and Mrs. B. R. Jones, all of Amarillo, sisters and sister-in-law of the prospective bridegroom, registered.

Drive to Halt Obscene Literature In Mail Getting Desired Results

Postmaster Marion Higdon reports the Post Office Department's drive to stamp out activities of "merchants in filth," who solicit minor children for mail-order sale of obscene materials, is making substantial headway.

Postmaster General Arthur B. Summerfield has notified Higdon that during the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1959, the Post Office Department conducted more than 14,000 separate investigations of traffic in mail order obscenity, of which approximately 10,000 were based on complaints from parents.

Actual arrests during the year, according to Postmaster Higdon, totaled 315, an increase over the previous year, and almost double the number of arrests during 1957.

Prior to the summer of 1958, antiquated laws and liberal court interpretations required even the most blatant profiteer, sending the vilest possible material through the mails to school-age children, could be prosecuted only at the point or origin of the mail, usually New York or Los Angeles.

In 1958 the Postmaster General recommended new legislation to the 85th Congress, which would permit prosecution of such racketeers at the point where the mail was received, and where the actual attempt to corrupt childrens' moral and social health took place. Congress responded to the Postmaster General's plea, and translated the recommendations into law.

Postmaster Higdon reports this new legislation is beginning to bear fruit. The first case prosecuted under the new law was of a man and wife on the West Coast, who were mailing obscene literature to youngsters in Boise, Idaho.

Thanks to the new law, these two were convicted in Boise, and sentenced to 10 years in prison plus a heavy fine.

In another recent California case, a 10-year prison sentence was imposed on a criminal offender convicted of sending obscene material through the mail, in contrast to many previous cases in that area when probation had been granted.

Postmaster General Summerfield pointed out in a recent speech: "This represents, in our opinion, real progress of the type which can readily be expanded, so long as we have determined public support, prompt and positive investigation, and vigorous prosecution."

Postmaster Higdon said the Postmaster General and the Post Office Department attribute this progress to the broad support for the campaign being given by the nation's newspapers and radio and television commentators, public spirited civic organizations, members of Congress, and individual citizens.

Their efforts, according to the Postmaster General, are not only alerting the public but are arousing judges and law enforcement officers to act firmly against the menace this traffic in filth presents to the healthy and decent development of the nation's youth.

The closed-up look for summer has sure played hob with neighboring. You stroll up the street in the late afternoon, thinking, "If Lucille is at home, I'll stop in a few minutes." But the windows and doors are closed tight. Is she out of town? You hesitate to ring; you might disturb her. Besides it wasn't important that you see her today.

If the house had been open, your ear could have picked up the rhythm of the household so that you'd know whether or not to invite yourself in.

In neighborhoods where children have not been taught to respect other people's privacy, this may be a blessing. Or among women who barge into the home next door without considering the inmates. But in a neighborhood where everyone respects the other's rights, it presents a real stumbling block.

We realized this all over again last week right after a cooling rain. The air was so nice that we went through the house throwing windows wide open to fill the house with morning freshness. In five minutes, our timid neighbor across the street, whom we adore, called out at the front door. We had a pleasant chat on the back porch before the day began.

The closed-up look cools off drive-by friends in much the same way. Why park, put the keys in your purse, get out and knock at a door that looks as if no one is home? You'll come another day.

Yes, houses stay cleaner and housewives cooler in this new order of window fans, air coolers and refrigerating systems. But the easy summer informality of wide-open windows and doors went with the dust and the heat.

About the only thing that moves faster than the speed of sound is a two-week vacation.

Suspension of License To Follow 4 Tickets

The Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety cautioned this week that a new state law provides for the suspension of the license of any driver convicted of four moving traffic violations within a 12-month period.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., said the new law, passed by the recent session of the Legislature and signed by Governor Price Daniel August 5, for the first time defines the term "habitual violator."

"Garrison said if a justice of the peace or other designated magistrate finds a driver to be an habitual violator, the Department of Public Safety is authorized to suspend the driver's license for any period up to one year.

DISHWATER HANDS

Lovely hands, aren't they? So different from dishwater hands. When you wash dishes by hand – they should be in 150° water for two minutes – think what that does to your hands – even with gloves on. You end all this with an electric dishwasher – it takes the hot water in stride inside the cabinet. Your hands will be smoother, softer, lovelier. Manicures will last longer, too. Don't have dishwater hands – have lovely dishwasher hands.

ATTENTION! HUSBANDS

Remember how lovely her hands were before you made a dishwasher out of her? Well, don't let her be a dishwasher – buy one! Reddy's wages to run it will be 1½c a day.

REPORTER-AT-LARGE

HOLSTEIN'S LANGUAGE CAUSES WRITER TO QUESTION STORY

By OSCAR GRIFFIN

Because of a diminishing number of requests that The News start some sort of column in its pages that's not necessarily limited to a certain type news, "Reporter-At-Large" herein begins.

The only thing which will limit this column is the writer's intellect.

And if you're wondering what's going into "Reporter-At-Large" every week, don't feel like the Lone Ranger minus Tonto. There are others wondering the same thing, including the author.

As a matter of fact, I'm not cretain that it'll be written every week. I will promise, however, to write it as seldom as possible.

As the title indicates, it's intended to be about anything which happens to cross my mind as I stare at the ceiling or a blank piece of copy paper in the typewriter.

Once—I'll have to admit that it was several years ago—I talked to a guy who actually gave me some material for a column. But these kind samaritans are few and far between, and I've learned not to depend on them.

Did meet a guy on the street the other afternoon that resembled most columnists' impeccable source. As he crossed the street coming from the courthouse he was babbling a little incoherently about some Britisher and wanting to file suit against him.

After a great deal of questioning, and several cups of coffee to settle his nerves, I discovered his trouble. Seems that some farmer in England had come to this country trying to sell American farmers on the idea of buying foam rubber mattresses for their cows because, he said, the cows would give more milk if they slept on these soft mattresses.

My new-found friend had come to town to buy some supplies that morning, and when he went back home he found a muley cow in his bed reading the article in the paper.

He swears it's a true story. But frankly I don't see how that cow could read the news story. Everybody knows Holsteins can't read a word of English.

Of course not all would-be columnists are desperate enough to print a tale as tall as that—not in the first column anyhow—but I just thought I'd pass it along.

One thing you can depend on, however, during the fall and winter is sports. And if you're sports-minded, here's hoping you'll glance this way every now and then. I kind of like sports, and not being an authority naturally makes me the perfect sports writer. Especially when it comes to predicting winners, which I might try my hand at every now and then. Don't bet any money on me though.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

By DOYLE G. THOMAS

One of the main topics of conversation these days among farmers calling at this office is the 1960 Soil Bank program. Since there are major changes in the program a meeting will be held Thursday night, August 20, to discuss and explain the program. The meeting will be held in the Farm Bureau office in Canyon and will start at 8 p. m. We urge that interested farmers attend.

On August 27 most local post offices will offer a new stamp for sale. This will be a soil conservation stamp and is a tribute to the farmers and ranchers who follow good conservation practices.

Undesirable wheat varieties will be discounted 20 cents per bushel under the 1960 loan program. The following types of Hard Red Winter wheat are classed as undesirable: Blue Jacket, Cache, Chiefkan, Cimarron, Early Blackhull, Kan King, Kharkof MC 22, New Chief, Pawnee Sel. 33, Purkof, Red Chief, Red Hull, Red Jacket, Stafford, Wasatch, and Yogo. These varieties were designated by USDA's Agricultural Research Service after consultation with State Agricultural Experiment Station personnel, agronomists, and cereal chemists, and others on state and federal staffs.

Texas 1959 calf crop is expected to total 4,121,000 head, six per cent greater than in 1958, according to the Texas crop and Livestock Reporting Service. The expected calf crop is five per cent above the 10 year average and is the highest number of calves expected since the 4,242,000 head born in 1954.

Most of the wheat produced in Randall County sold on the open market this year. Only 74 loans have been written this year compared to 1,091 that were prepared last year. Loans on this year's wheat are available through January 1, 1960.

Friday Concert Ends Music Camp

More than 370 area school musicians, who have been attending the two week West Texas Music Camp at West Texas State College, will close activities Friday with a "grand finale" concert. The public is invited to the program at 7 p. m. in Buffalo Stadium.

The camp choir, directed by Walter Ehret of Hofstra College, will lead off the program, singing "Let Thy Holy Spirit" by Tschesnokoff, "Listen to the Lambs" by Dett, "Carousel Selections" by Rodgers, and "Elijah Rock" by Hairston. Last selection by the choir, "God of Our Fathers," by Roberts-Gearheart, will be accompanied by an instrumental ensemble.

The Junior High Band, conducted by J. W. King, Jr., of Hale Center, will play Moore's "Texas Tempo March" and "La Nuit" by Cavacas. Directed by G. T. Gilligan of Kermit, the Blue Concert Band will play "March Vivo" by Maxwell and "Welsh Folk Suite" by Davis.

Two selections to be played by the Red Concert Band, directed by James Jacobsen, Texas Christian University band director, are "Sounding Brass" by Maxwell and "Carnival of Roses" by Olivadoti.

The camp's advanced band, the Symphonic Band, conducted by Dr. Milburn Carey of Phillips University, will present five selections. These include the introduction and wedding march from "The Golden Cockerel" by Rimsky Korsakov, the scherzo from "Midsummer Night's Dream" by Mendelssohn, "Fandango" by Perkins-Werle, "Manhattan Tower Overture" by Jenkins-Osser, and the Triumphal March from "Quo Vadis" by Miklos Rozsa. On the last selection, the group will be assisted by members of the faculty and the Red and Blue concert bands.

The Symphonic group will accompany Dr. Ted J. Crager, director of the camp, in a cornet solo, "Twilight Tune" by Burke. Closing the program will be the appearance of all twirlers and a twirling duet featuring Bill Woods of Seagraves.

Texas' 1955 population was estimated 67.3 per cent urban and 32.7 rural.

Miss Cosby Feted By Luncheon Friday

A luncheon at the Amarillo Club recently feted Theora Cosby, who August 9 became the bride of Jerry Downing in a double ring ceremony in the First Baptist Church.

Present were the honoree; Mrs. C. N. Cosby, her mother; Mrs. Lottie Suggs, her grandmother; Mrs. Bill Downing, mother of the bridegroom; Shannon Downing and Sara Lynn; and the hostesses, Mrs. Walter Graham and her three daughters.

A buffet-style rehearsal dinner was held at 6:30 p. m. August 8 in the Downing home.

"Previously Owned by a Little Old Lady..."

Surprisingly, that gentle little old lady who never drove over 30 miles an hour was really tough on her car's motor. The fact is that start-and-stop driving at low speeds means the motor doesn't warm up enough for its own good. Sludge forms in the motor oil. Damage to the engine will result.

Most of us do a lot of start-and-stop driving these days, and that's why it's wise to protect with Phillips 66 Trop-Artic* Motor Oil. It flows quickly in a cold engine . . . resists sludge formation . . . then keeps on protecting your motor on long, hot drives.

Top hands on high-country hauls!

Ask any trucker who's been over Wolf Creek Pass, 10,850 feet up in the San Juans: a 9-mile pull to the summit and low gear all the way down. Mr. C. H. Phillips of Alamosa, Colorado, has a 6403 and a 6503 Chevrolet truck that are up over this route the year round, taking sheep and beef to pasture, later marketing the stock in Denver. In less than a year, his Chevy middleweights have averaged about 50,000 miles of this kind of treatment—and they're going stronger than ever!

Watch Chevy trucks at work out in range country. It's a sight to see the way they pack into high-up mountain pastures and handle through brush and rock like a cowman's favorite cutting horse. Take any truck work for that matter. Chevy middleweights probably handle a bigger variety of jobs than any trucks alive. About anything you name, including work that used to be reserved strictly for bigger rigs. When a truck's built the way a Chevy is, lean-muscled and rawhide-tough, it takes to ugly trails the same way most trucks roll over the highway. It just keeps going, without a big to-do, but looking good every mile of the way. How they do it is your Chevrolet dealer's department. # A lady likes Attention!

-that's why I shop at

Oh, I'm not the demanding type. I just like the friendliness and spirit of cooperation I find when I shop here. A friendly smile — a "Good Morning, Mrs. Smith" — plus the helpful suggestions on menu-planning and saving money, make me feel my grocer values my patronage and sincerely wants to please. And when I leave I know, no matter where I might have shopped, I couldn't have done better.

Carnival Opens To Large Crowd

Opening to one of the largest crowds in its history, the Lions Club Carnival Monday night gave indications that it would be one of the most successful ever held here.

Booths throughout the carnival, an annual event held to raise money for the club's community service work, reported brisk business during most of the evening.

Threatening clouds and a sprinkle of rain kept the crowd away for a short time, but after the weather cleared the people moved in.

This is the fifth annual carnival staged by the Canyon Lions Club, but the first time the booths operated by the civic organization have been open each night of the carnival. In past years, the booths have been open only the last three days of the show.

Chairmen of the Lions Club booths are Charles Hillier and Marion Higdon, food concession; Art Brewer, cotton candy; Ed Williams, fishing pond and penny pitch; J. P. Taylor, ducking board; Jimmy Christopher, baseball dolls. Also, W. E. Miller, dart board; Dr. Harry Brown, Jr., rifle shoot; Dr. W. J. Wooten, Jr., panda bear pitch; L. J. Witkowski, archery shoot, and Gene McGlasson, Jr., ride tickets.

Rides are operated by the Lone Star Amusement Company of Amarillo, featuring the tilt-a-whirl, roller coaster, ferris wheel, and merry-go-'round. There also are several rides for children.

The show will continue through Saturday night. It opens each evening at 6 p. m. and closes about 10 p. m.

The carnival has been set up on the east side of the courthouse square, with traffic routed around the show.

Rarely is history written by one who was an eye-witness to its making; even more rarely is history written by one who actually participated in the making of it. ## Przilas-Woehl Nuptial Mass Sung Wednesday at Umbarger

In a nuptial High Mass at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Umbarger last Wednesday, Miss Marcella Caroline Przilas became the bride of Herbert Arlin Woehl of Wall.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Otto Przilas of Umbarger and Mr. and Mrs. Willie Woehl Sr. of Wall.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. W. F. Bosen, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Darrel Hersley, organist, played a processional and recessional by Carl Rossini. Mass from "Missa Clar" was sung, and "Ave Maria" was used at the offertory.

The main altar was decorated with two bouquets of white and blue gladioli. The Blessed Mother's altar was decorated with two bouquets of white and blue carnations, and two bouquets of red and white carnations were used on the Sacred Heart altar. Pews were marked with sprays of lily of the valley and white satin bows.

Miss Elaine Batenhorst was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Bernice Przilas and Sylvia Raef. Junior bridesmaids were Darlene Woehl and Marylou Mattheisen.

Attendants' dresses were fashioned with a fitted bodice that came to a bow effect in the back. They also had a V-neckline with a full skirt. The maid of honor's dress was blue, and the bridesmaids wore orchid and nile green respectively. The junior bridesmaids were in similarly fashioned yellow dresses.

Best man was Oscar Przilas, brother of the bride, and Donald Woehl and Kenneth Schwartz were groomsmen.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor length dress of Chantilly lace and tulle ruffles that extended into a chapel length train. The fitted bodice featured a Sabrina neckline highlighted with pearls and irridescent sequins, and tapered sleeves extended to points over the hands. Her shoulder length veil of French illusion was fashioned of double tiers and was attached to a crown of flowers and leaves.

The bride's mother wore a royal blue sheath dress, with white accessories and a white carnation corsage, and the bridegroom's mother chose a light blue dress with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

After the nuptial High Mass, the bridal couple was led by Miss Joyce Friemel and Miss Elsie Buecker to the Blessed Mother's altar, where they received a statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary from the Children of Mary.

A dinner was given in St. Mary's Hall for the wedding party, relatives, and close friends at 12 noon. A reception and barbecue supper followed at 3 p. m. At 9 p. m. a dance was held, with Pelzell's Band from San Angelo furnishing the music.

For the wedding trip to points of interest in Colorado, the bride chose a white linen dress with white accessories. After August 20, the couple will be at home in San Angelo.

The bride was graduated from high school at Umbarger and was employed at Bellah's Super Market in Canyon prior to her marriage. She was an active member in the Children of Mary. The bridegroom attended school at Fairview School and has completed six months' active duty with the National Guard. He is engaged in farming near Wall.
